Bravida Norway has signed a contract with JV AF Ghella to provide electrical, plumbing and HVAC infrastructure for Oslo Municipality's new water supply project.

Oslo Municipality is expanding its drinking water supply capacity by creating a new clean water tunnel. Bravida's assignment includes working on the extension of the tunnel and the technical installations associated with the tunnel.

“This is a very important project in which we at Bravida have the opportunity to be involved in securing the drinking water in the future for everyone who lives and works in Oslo. We have excellent expertise in collaborative projects that place high demands regarding elements that are technically complex, and we look forward to a good collaboration with JV AF Ghella,” comments Thomas Kollshaugen, Regional Manager for the Innlandet Region at Bravida Norway.

Sigurd Ramnefjell, Project Manager at JV AF Ghella, comments:

“The project places high demands with regard to climate and the environment, which means that we need to be at the forefront of development and create good conditions for working in collaborative projects in a sustainable way. We look forward to having a close and productive collaboration with Bravida.”
